"I am the living bread that has come down from heaven. Anyone who eats this bread will live for ever"

Voices!

In Bernard Shaw's play Saint Joan, one of the officers asks, "How do you mean? Voices?" The maid replies, "I hear voices telling me what to do. They come from God." The weakling King Charles, whom she has helped to be crowned, impatiently exclaims, "Oh your voices. Why don't the voices come to me? I am king, not you." Joan answers, "They do come to you; but you do not hear them. You have not sat in the field in the evening listening for them. When the angelus rings you cross yourself and have done with it; but if you prayed with your heart, and listened to the thrilling of the bells in the air after they stop ringing, you would hear the voices as well as I do."

More Voices!

"I'd be nothing without God. I'm here because of the grace of God in my life, and because of Jesus in my life and without him I'd be nothing really. So praise God, thank you Jesus for such a great victory today."

These were the words of an exultant Katie Taylor yesterday as she won Ireland's first gold medal in the 2012 Olympics. The 26-year-old boxer from Bray fought a close contest in the women's boxing lightweight final at the ExCeL Arena in London against Russia's Sofya Ochigava.

At Katie's church, St Mark's Pentecostal Church in Pearse Street, Dublin, the doors opened at 4:00pm, and when she was declared Olympic Champion, just over an hour later, it became the loudest Church in Ireland.
