Reflection on Lip Service

In today's Gospel, the Pharisees are telling Jesus that he and his disciples are not following the law closely enough. But Jesus reverses the discussion and tell them that they have missed the point. The Pharisees were very harsh. Not only did they obey the law down to the littlest detail, as they saw it. They expected everyone else to do the same. They looked down on others who weren't as "observant" as they were. Tradition itself is good. It binds us together in community and connect us to the past. But that can also become a distraction if we use it to feed our ego. It is also a problem when we become so rigidly attached to it, putting it before everything else, including God. Jesus calls them out for giving the law lip service only. They say they love the law, but they don't show it in their actions and attitudes to other. He reminds them that the things they are so concerned about are external things. They need to pay some attention to what is inside them. They need to look at their hearts.
